

Dear Company HR manager,

I've always held a deep-seated interest towards game design and development. I have participated in game jams, created and ran both one-shot and months long tabletop campaigns. Now enrolled in the Independent Game Production major; It is my earnest wish to pursue a career in making games. As such, I believe that your company is the perfect way to channel my passion, energy and professional skills towards working alongside others on larger endeavours.

I am confident that my solid development and design skills, willingness to improve and to learn from my mistakes, as well as innate curiosity are strong assets in this extremely multidisciplinary field. Furthermore, my constant efforts, and past professional experience should be proof of my ability to adapt and succeed in your company.

Being able to work alongside you in the fields of game design and development is an opportunity I would love to embrace wholeheartedly, as it will allow me to exercise my speciality and push my abilities even further. Your company also provides an excellent work environment that I want to contribute to positively and to become part of a vibrant and talented team.

Sincerely,
Clément Dupuis